Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.GAO provided a supplement to its report on the April 1989 explosion aboard the U.S.S. Iowa, focusing on the Sandia National Laboratory s independent review of the Navy s technical analysis of the explosion. GAO found that: (1) Sandia could neither confirm nor disprove the Navy s conclusion that a deliberate act caused the explosion, nor could it could prove or disprove the Navy s contention that foreign material on the rotating band of the projectile was evidence of an improvised explosive device; (2) although the Navy concluded that impact and compression of the bag charges were not contributing factors in the explosion, it could have been a factor, since a significant overram occurred; (3) due to the lack of evidence and other physical factors, it may be difficult to ever fully resolve the many unknowns and develop a clear and unambiguous explanation of the events that occurred; and (4) there was no explicit evidence that the hypothetical chemical ignition device was present in the center gun room.
