Excerpt: . to take advantage of such schools as existed at that day, but later, when eleven years of age, he attended school in Selkirk, walking four miles--a peat in one hand and a penny in the other, to pay for five days instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic. His father died in 1849, and as wages were very low in Scotland, he left that country in April, 1852, and made his way to Newcastle, England, where remuneration for labor was much better. After two years work on a railroad, in coal mines and in brickwork, Thomas Mann, in company with Michael Stephensen, boarded the American sailing ship Constitution, under command of Captain Gray, at Liverpool, on the 22d day of June, 1854, and arrived at New York on the 6th of August following. After five years spent in the state of New York, Canada...
