The New Press, 2012. PaperBack. Book Condition: New. This book directly challenges the notion that the election of Barack Obama signals a new era of colorblindness. With dazzling candor, legal scholar Michelle Alexander argues that 'we have not ended racial caste in America; we have merely redesigned it.' By targeting black men through the War on Drugs and decimating communities of color, the U.S. criminal justice system functions as a contemporary system of racial control â" relegating millions to a permanent second-class status â" even as it formally adheres to the principle of colorblindness. In the words of Benjamin Todd Jealous, president and CEO of the NAACP, this book is a âcall to action.â Winner, NAACP Image Award; Winner, Constitutional Commentary Award. Notes, Index.
